About our Contributors

Tom Bertonneau, an original member of the GA seminar, received his Ph.D. from UCLA in Comparative Literature in 1990. His dissertation applied GA to the study of the modern epic: William Carlos Williams' Paterson and Stéphane Mallarmé's "Un coup de dés..." Since then he has published and presented papers on Williams, Wallace Stevens, Charles Olson, and other American authors, as well as on theoretical topics (and science fiction). Tom has also written for Heterodoxy, Chronicles, Academic Questions, and National Review, and is well known in Michigan for his controversial writings on college English teaching. He is Executive Director of the Association of Literary Scholars and Critics.

Matthew Schneider, also a founding member of the GA seminar (who has managed to attend some portion of the seminar every year it has been given) holds an MA from Chicago and received his PhD in English from UCLA in 1991. The author of Original Ambivalence: Violence and Autobiography in Thomas De Quincey (Peter Lang, 1995), Schneider has also published articles on Jane Austen, John Keats, and critical theory. He is associate professor of English and Chair of Literature at Chapman University (Orange, California).

Richard van Oort is a Ph.D. candidate in English at the University of California, Irvine. He is writing a dissertation on comedy and originary aesthetics. His most recent publication is "Three Models of Fiction: The Logical, the Phenomenological, and the Anthropological (Searle, Ingarden, Gans)" which appears in the 1998 summer issue of New Literary History.

Stacey Meeker, a member of the Anthropoetics Editorial Board, holds an M.A. in French from the University of Kansas. She is currently working on a doctoral dissertation on Marcel Proust at UCLA.
